Created by:
Partners in Policymaking Class of 2004

By the Year 2014,

- ✦ There will be all-inclusive communities where everyone can live, learn and worship together and where people are valued as integral members of that community.
- ✦ All people will have an equal voice in government.
- ✦ Diversity and differences will be embraced and valued. People will live without stigma and everyone will be accepted for who they are.
- ✦ People will be free to live and travel with complete accessibility.
- ✦ People will have access to employment opportunities, social services and benefits, without concrete barriers or prejudice.
- ✦ People will determine their own futures and will be given the services they need.
- ✦ Institutions will no longer exist and the "money follows the person" concept will be a reality in all states
